

Joshua D. Smith

Joshua D. Smith is a Distinguished Toastmaster residing in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, a small community 30 minutes west of Harrisburg, PA, the state capital. Joshua has worked for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for over 12 years, with his most recent assignment starting as an Administrative Officer 3 with the Department of General Services. At DGS, he provides data analytical services to internal/external customers, and helps to strengthen process improvements to save time and money for the agency and the Commonwealth as a whole through a variety of presentations and engagements from all levels of the organization, including executive management. He also serves as a Board Member for the Shalom House, an organization located in the Alison Hill section of Harrisburg, PA that provides emergency shelter services to women and children.

Joshua has been an active Toastmaster since April 2012, holding all club officer roles and all District-level positions (except for the role of District Director). Joshua belongs to the following clubs in his local area: Carlisle Community Toastmasters; HYP Toastmasters; Positively Charged Toastmasters; Elizabethtown Toastmasters; Fort Washington Communicators Toastmasters Club; and Brutally Honest with Love. Joshua also belongs to 3 other clubs outside of the District. Joshua currently serves as the Contest Advisor for District 38 this Toastmasters year under the direction of the Program Quality Director, which encompasses Eastern Pennsylvania and Central/Southern New Jersey. He is also working on his journey to become an Accredited Speaker, a designation in Toastmasters that fewer than 100 have been able to achieve since the program's inception.
